August 25, 2019 – Twenty-first Sunday in Ordinary Time

First Reading: Isaiah 66: 18-21

The central assertion here is that “foreigners will be at home in God’s house.” Tarshish (southern Spain), “Put and Lud” (Africa), Mosoth, Tubal and Javan (Greek islands) are all included in the list of Gentile lands.

Second Reading: Hebrews 12: 5-7, 11-13

Pain and suffering are a part of the human condition. The writer urges us to persevere in light of the triumphant end of the race. Also, he reminds us that discipline brings the “peaceful fruit of righteousness.”

Gospel: Luke 13: 22-30

En route to Jerusalem, as Luke plots Jesus’ course, He teaches about the kingdom. He tells one group that people from faraway places will share in the banquet at heaven’s table.

Reflection:

When we enter the final and everlasting banquet, Jesus tells us we will be surprised at those enjoying the feast. God has a pretty broad vision, and we will be surprised at those who "made it" through the narrow gate. If we accept this vision of the end time, then we should start preparing for it now. We need a change of glasses; we need to look at our world through biblical lens and act accordingly.

So we ask ourselves:

- When I hear the phrase "God’s people" who do I think are included?
- How does what Jesus says broaden my notion of those "chosen" by God?
