September 1, 2019 – Twenty-second Sunday in Ordinary Time

First Reading: Sirach 3: 17-18, 20, 28-29

This passage celebrates humility. The pious Jew should have no concern with honors. The high and mighty have a greater need of humility than the lowly and the weak.

Second Reading: Hebrews 12: 18-19, 22-24a

The author contrasts Israel under the old covenant with people on a journey to join those living under the new covenant, who are in heaven.

Gospel: Luke 14: 1, 7-14

Here Luke contrasts those who are prideful with those who are humble. In essence, he writes that “God will not be fooled by one’s own self-promotion.”

Reflection:

Jesus hasn’t had a shift in character. He isn’t suggesting subtle ways to climb the social ladder so as to get places of esteem and influence. Rather, he wants those who have to reach out to those who have not. And if we sit across the table from each other, who knows where our conversations will lead?

So we ask ourselves:

- As you reflect on your friendships, are they all similar types of people?
- How does your world include people from different backgrounds, languages, and economic conditions?
